

TREE PLANTING TO BE FEATURE OF ARMISTICE DAY

Washington, To Celebrate Armistice Day With All-day Affair—Memorial Tree In Honor of Joseph Davis to Be Planted.

Washington Consolidated School will have an all-day and evening program on Armistice Day.

The Boys' Band has been secured for the occasion. At 10 a. m. there will be a basket ball game with Minerva's second team. At 10:30 Judge Newell will deliver a patriotic address. From 11:30 to 1:30 dinner will be served under the auspices of the Parent Teacher Association. All those who have attended the former Thanksgiving dinners given at Washington know what that means.

In courtesy to our friends and neighbors at Mayslick we have changed our custom of Thanksgiving dinner in the hope that instead of the friendly rivalry heretofore existing, there may be neighborly intercourse and the schools be brought thus closer together.

Armistice day would not be complete without its memorial hour. At 1:30 p. m. there will be the planting of a tree in memory of Joseph Davis, one of our boys who made the supreme sacrifice for America and Americanism. American Legion please take notice.

At 2 p. m. there will be a basket ball game between Minerva first team and Washington.

In the evening at 7:30 the High School will present the comedy, "Mrs. Tibbs of Shantytown."

Some one has said: "Let us be glad with the children about us though our gladness ever must be kindred with a proud and gentle sorrow," and so Washington has a program full of laughter and joy tempered by reverent memories.

I am going to the Armistice Day dinner at the Washington Consolidated School. Aren't you? Why not make a day of it and see the comedy—"Mrs. Tibbs of Shantytown" presented at 7:30! Oysters and other good things will be served before and after the play, so eat and be merry. I intend to. Don't miss this play for it insures the laughter that is good for us.

Mr. and Mrs. Doniphan Best, of Toledo, are visiting his mother, Mrs. Alice Best of East Second street.

MANY TAKE BOOSTER TRIP TO NEIGHBORING TOWNS

Several Automobiles Filled With Maysville Fair Boosters Invade Adjoining Counties With Advertisements of Fair.

The big Boosters' trip in the interest of the 1920 Corn and Tobacco Fair which is on today is proving to be a greater success than its promoters expected it to be this morning when the weather was so very unfavorable.

At about 8 o'clock some ten automobiles, each occupied by four boosters left in six different directions carrying with them all kinds of advertising matter which will be posted on barns and fences en route and in the various towns visited. Approximately one hour will be spent in each town visited on the route. The boosters will strike hands with our neighbors and tell them something about the big fair. Catalogues and programs will be distributed and newspaper advertising will be contracted for by the captains of each team.

The machines went in all directions from Maysville and will visit every county seat in this section of Kentucky and in adjacent Ohio. The only county seat that will not be touched today will be Vanceburg and a party of local boosters will go to Vanceburg Wednesday by train and remain practically all day in the Lewis county capital from which county the fair is expecting much support.

ERNST'S ELECTION NOT TO CONTESTED BY KY. DEMOCRATS

Decision Not To Contest Election of Senator Reached By Democratic Leaders After Conference.

Louisville, Ky., November 9. — The plan to contest the election of Richard P. Ernst, of Covington, as United States Senator to succeed J. C. W. Beckham has been abandoned by Democratic state leaders, it is declared on excellent authority.

The feeling prevails, it is said, that such a contest would have no chance of succeeding in a Republican Senate. It still is insisted that majorities returned for the senatorial and national tickets in the mountain counties were most unreasonable on their face. Republicans meet this assertion by pointing out that only an average of 50 per cent. marked the vote in the mountain counties, as against increases in the Democratic vote ranging from 200 to 880 per cent. in the First, Second and Seventh Congressional Districts, compared with election figures of 1918.

Cessation of contest talk followed the visit here the last two days of Democratic leaders from various sections of the state, who, it is said, were in conference with Senator Beckham. Among the visitors was H. J. Howard, Chairman of the Kentucky County Democratic Campaign Committee.

It is inferred that Mr. Howard came to Louisville in response to a call from state headquarters to tell exactly what happened in Kentucky county, which Cox carried by 4,800 and which Beckham lost by about 1,200. The announcement that there would be no contest followed closely upon the conference with Mr. Howard.

In a letter addressed to Richard P. Ernst, Senator-elect, Mr. Howard said: "I place no credence in the cry of fraud made by the State Chairman of my party. I know you would not accept an office gained by such methods as he imputes to the workers of your party."

Mr. Howard, in his letter, congratulates Mr. Ernst upon his victory, and says that Mr. Ernst made the most remarkable campaign in Kentucky county he ever had known in his long political experience.

Senator-elect Ernst made a most wonderful race. Former President Taft points to the fact that Mr. Ernst is the only Senatorial or Congressional candidate in the nation who ran ahead of Senator W. G. Harding. Mr. Ernst is also the first Kentucky Republican to be elected to the Senate by the direct vote of the people.

SUPREME COURT RULING MAY RELEASE MUCH LIQUOR

Decision of the United States Supreme Court Permits Liquor To Be Moved From Warehouses to Homes of the Owners.

Washington, Nov. 8. — Storage of lawfully acquired liquors in commercial warehouses and the transportation of such stocks to the homes of the owner is not prohibited by the Volstead act, under a decision handed down today by the Supreme Court.

In passing upon the appeal of William G. Street of New York from decisions of lower courts refusing to enjoin Internal Revenue officials from seizing liquors he had placed in a room rented from a safety deposit company, the Supreme Court reversed the lower courts decision and held that the injunctions should be granted.

The effect of this ruling had not been fully appraised tonight by Internal Revenue and prohibition enforcement officials. The belief was expressed, however, that the result might be the release of some 10,000,000 gallons of intoxicating beverages which have been stored in warehouses since January 16, 1920.

BOOTH DRAWING TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY AT THE WAREHOUSE

All Booth Owners Expected To Be At Liberty Warehouse Tomorrow Morning to Draw For Location Of Their Booth.

It was announced at the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon that the drawing for location of booths at the 1920 Corn and Tobacco Fair would be held at the Liberty Warehouse at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. Each booth owner is expected to be on hand promptly at that hour and at that time some system of deciding the location fairly by lot will be decided upon.

Arrangements will be made that persons purchasing more than one booth will be permitted to select a booth adjoining the one he draws. All automobile and farm implement booths will be located in one end of the large warehouse.

Many people are visiting the warehouse these days to see how the work is progressing and many of the merchants who have purchased booths are anxious to get to work this or next week at decorating their booths. In order to give the workmen time to hang the signs and the merchants plenty of time to decorate their booths, it was decided by the committee to hold this drawing tomorrow.

Don't forget—Liberty Warehouse at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning.

LEXINGTON MARKET WILL OPEN JANUARY THIRD.

Lexington, Ky., November 8. — The Lexington loose leaf tobacco market will open Monday, January 3, instead of Wednesday, December 1, as previously announced. The decision to open the market at the later date was made this afternoon at a meeting of representatives of local warehouses in the office of James C. Stoen, President of the association.

The five big manufacturers, Liggett & Myers, American Tobacco Company, R. J. Reynolds, Lorillard and the Imperial, did not favor the early opening of the markets because other Southern sales centers will not close until late in December, and many buyers could not come here until after the close of the other markets.

NEWSPAPERMAN BEST DETECTIVE.

The American newspaperman is the best detective there is. He daily proves it, and he sometimes admits it. Now there's Michael Collins, the strong-arm man of Sinn Fein; "Mick," as every Irish Republican calls him. For more than two years agents of the British Government have been looking for this acknowledged leader of the Irish army, which, though not definitely mobilized, is burning police barracks and shooting British officials from behind hedges. Every policeman and officer in Ireland carries Collins' photograph and description and has orders to arrest him at sight on the charge of directing assassinations. They can't get near him. Yet over to Dublin goes Carl Ackerman, correspondent for an enterprising Philadelphia newspaper, and secures a two-hour interview with this very genuine celebrity. It sounds like an authoritative interview, too; one containing statements of policy which Lloyd George's government might like to get hold of. Ackerman of course, started some advantages which the agents of Scotland Yard don't have. He was personally known to some of "Mick's" friends as a chap who could be trusted. That's always the newspaperman's greatest asset when he's on a difficult and dangerous job.—Lowell (Mass.) Courier-Citizen.

BOBBED HAIR AN EMANCIPATION.

Somewhere amid a multitude of repressed emotions and hidden longings is, one has been told—how truthfully, who can say?—the lurking wish in every woman's mind for bobbed hair. With her crowning glory clipped she thinks there is an added sense of freedom. It is not mere vagrant caprice that led eighty-five Evanston girls to organize a bobbed hair club. One may, indeed, express surprise that the bobbed hair movement has not become general as a symbol of emancipation.

These eighty-five young women with bobbed hair will dance less, it is announced, and will undertake more gymnastical work. Skirts will be less tight and French heels will be abandoned. Other sanities will be introduced.

Whither is bobbed hair beckoning the lovely and now fully enfranchised sex? Nobody knows.

Thus is introduced another complexion into the unguessable riddle, woman.—Chicago Daily News.

WOMEN OF ENGLAND TAKE TO PIPE SMOKING.

English women have set a good example to the American sisters. They have discovered that, however, soothing a cigarette may be after tea or at other times, for real solace there is nothing equal to a companionable pipe, preferably of briar, brought to a state of perfection by much use. A cablegram announces that the preference of women for pipes is growing, and that it has led to the development of art in bowls and stems, some of them being set with diamonds and other precious stones. But this is mere ornamentation. It is what is in the bowl more than what is on the outside of it that counts.

It's added that "the women who have adopted the pipe-smoking habit are among the best bred and most fashionable in the Kingdom." We can well believe it. Why shouldn't they be?—New York Morning Telegraph.

Notwithstanding warnings widely circulated and the change in the law which makes careful inspection of antlers obligatory on deer hunters before they shoot, the first day of the open season this year saw an experienced guide shot to death, not by a nervous tyro in the wilds but by a woodsman familiar with all the ways of forest folk. The tragedies of the hunting season are not all to be charged to those who have yet to learn what buck fever is.—New York Herald.

In the mortuary handicap the motor car and the railroad car continue a fairly well-balanced rivalry for points.

After all, that bank loot found hidden in a coal cellar was not so very much out of place.

MOTHER LIVES BY HERSELF.

A generation ago a couple who did not take a widowed mother into their home, or a sister for that matter, or any elderly female relative, was not respectable. No unattached woman lived alone if there was any home to which she could possibly adhere. It seemed only right and natural that the mother of either husband or wife should receive loving and dutiful companionship as her right.

Today, boarding houses and hotels are full of women, middle-aged and old, all wearing wedding rings, but whose only evidence of having children and grandchildren is the photographs with which their rooms are usually plentifully adorned.

All their talk is of these children—but where are they? Asking married sons and daughters why their mothers do not live with them, the prevalent answer is "Mother wants to live by herself." She thinks couple should be left alone. And be it added, these couples, as a rule cordially agree with her.

Of course, there are women like Mrs. E., whose daughter quotes her as saying: "I'll never play second-fiddle. If I want the knives in one spot they'll be there and not some other place where my married daughter wants them." But this case is not characteristic. There are still uncounted thousands of homes where the relationship between mother and child is so close that through love alone and not mere obligation one roof-tree is desired by them both. — Adelaide Steadman in Leslie's.

CAMP PRESENTED TO GIRL SCOUTS BY N. Y. SENATOR

In Honor of Their Daughter, New York Senator and Wife Present Large Camp to American Girl Scouts.

New York City, November 9th. — Ex-Senator and Mrs. William A. Clark will present a large wooded camp to the Girl Scouts tomorrow in the name of their seventeen year old daughter, Andree, who was an ardent Girl Scout. The Andree Clark Camp, dedicated to the service of happy, busy Girl Scouts, will express the wish of Ex-Senator and Mrs. Clark to establish a memorial to their daughter that shall be a living, growing community asset.

The ceremony will take place tomorrow at 2:30 at Girl Scout headquarters, 139 Lexington Avenue, as one of the features of Girl Scout Week. Ex-Senator Clark will present the deed to the land to Mrs. Arthur Osgood Choate, president of the Girl Scouts. The grounds, which are at Briarcliff, will be turned over to Girl Scouts for hikes, camping, games and other out-of-door activities. The camp covers 135 acres of woods, hills and lake, and will be left practically as it is, because Andree Clark's especial delight as a Scout was camping and out-of-door life. One of the many springs on the place is to be developed into a fountain which will represent Andree as a Girl Scout giving water.

The Andree Clark Camp is the beginning of a permanent fund which the Girl Scouts have opened.

"Senator Clark's gift marks the beginning of a new idea in memorials," said Mrs. Jane Deeter Ripplin, national director of the Girl Scouts. "Such gifts mean greater opportunities for the living children, and the memory of the giver will continue to live long after a monument would have been forgotten. We are establishing the Andree Clark Fund as a means for others to honor the memory of their loved ones. Contributions of any amount will be accepted for this fund by the Girl Scouts, if the givers so specify."

"There's a Reason"

HARDING ON WILSON.

From The New York Herald, Oct. 31 "Is it fair to ask what you think of Wilson?"

Harding hesitated, and well he might. . . . I was prepared for a sharp comment.

"You want my honest opinion, don't you? Well here it is: Woodrow Wilson will have his place in history as one of the most intellectual figures of a century and a half, a man of wonderful mentality, a man of fine ideals usually. But the trouble with Wilson is that he has never understood the people. That has not been his fault altogether. Lacking real understanding of the people, he let his personal ideas carry him into impossible lengths. He failed to understand that in this world of our great good is only obtainable by harmonious action, by good understanding, by compromising differences and getting to something like a practical working basis of action. The American people can never be driven although they are willing to be led. There has been Wilson's great blunder."

Experience has taught us that Tobacco handled properly in the barn and GRADED there always makes the most satisfactory sales.

As Warehousemen we have an interest in the Grower and want tobacco to sell as high as possible, therefore we have decided to DISCONTINUE THE WAREHOUSE SORTING and request all to KEEP THE DIFFERENT GRADES SEPARATED, and mark on the wagon with Tobacco Stalks, Corn Stalks, or Paper, so that it can go directly on the basket without the formality of passing over a bench and scattered over the Warehouse floor.

This method is used by the largest market in the state, and we feel that with the co-operation of all Growers in this territory the results will justify the change.

UNCLE TED'S BED-TIME STORIES.

How President Wilson Set Aside "Supreme Law."

Uncle Ted, Jack and Ruth has just climbed into the automobile for a spin through the country. Uncle Ted had promised that they would pick nuts and gather autumn leaves, but most important to the children, was the promise of another story.

"You said you would tell us something this time that we ought to know," said Jack as the machine pulled down the long street for the country.

"Yes, Jack," answered his Uncle, "I'm going to tell you how President Wilson has refused to carry out the provisions of a law passed by Congress."

"What law is that?" asked Ruth.

"The law is the Merchant Marine Act, which was passed by Congress and approved in regular order by the President on the fifth of last June. This act 'authorized and directed' the President within ninety days after it became a law to tell the various governments, that our treaties with them had come to an end, 'which restrict the right of the United States to impose discriminating customs duties on imports entering the United States in foreign vessels.' This action is very important to the future of American shipping and President Wilson, through Secretary of State Colby, has refused to give the notice to these foreign governments as he was directed through the provisions of this law. This action of the President is, as I see it, even more important than the effect it has with regard to this one law. The position he has taken in the matter would, if carried out on other laws, give him or any President, the power to make void or destroy any act of Congress passed in the regular way under the provisions of the Constitution."

"What does the Constitution say?"

asked Jack, as the machine rounded a long curve and shot down a lane through thick woods.

"The Constitution," replied his Uncle, "says in Article VI that, 'This Constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land.'"

"Now what does President Wilson's attitude in this matter mean? It means that act, passed by Congress and signed by him, is not the 'supreme law of the land' as the Constitution says but must give way to treaties with which it may conflict. This is a mighty important matter and that is why I wanted to talk to you about it."

"Why did the President refuse to do this?" asked Jack.

"In his statement through Secretary Colby he is said to have refused because he did not consider that the part of the act referred to gave a direction which was an exercise of any constitutional power possessed by Congress. Which means that he must think Congress tried to take a power wholly given to him as President. He seems to think that all matters concerning treaties are for him alone to handle but according to the best legal minds of the country and the law which they base their statements upon he is wrong."

"The Constitution says he has the power to make treaties 'by and with the consent of the Senate' but the Constitution does not give him an express power to bring them to a close. In fact this great governing document of our country says nothing about the right to terminate treaties but many decisions of the Supreme Court have settled the fact that Congress has that right under the general powers of making laws as granted it by the Constitution. In other words, Congress can bring a treaty to a close by an act which states plainly that the treaty in question shall cease, and the only way the President can bring an existing treaty to a close is to make a new one, 'by and with the advice and consent of the Senate.' You see, kiddies, in this great country of ours, a treaty is much more than just a contract with another nation to do certain things because the Constitution says it is the 'supreme law of the land.'"

"In trying to explain the President's attitude in the matter, Secretary Colby, among other things, referred to what he called a similar case to show whether Presidents had done the same, the veto message of President Hayes. An eminent lawyer says that this is 'unfortunate' and goes on to say the following:

"The 'The circumstances of the two cases are entirely different. President Hayes vetoed the act (that is refused to sign it) and gave his reasons for it in the message referred to. But here the President refused to give the notice directed by an act of Congress, which HE HAS SIGNED."

"You see kiddies, he has signed this act and now after it becomes a law he refuses to carry out its provisions. The benefit of this law to our shipping is to be taken away because of the refusal of President Wilson, which adds just another black mark to the long list of mistakes, failures and waste this country has had to stand from the present Democratic administration."

NEEDED THE CORK.

John Simmons has been an abstainer for twenty years, but fell from the ways of grace and worshipped the vicious god with all the fervor of a convert.

Feeling the need of recuperation, he sent his boy to an adjacent hostelry for a bottle of whisky.

"But," cried the hotel proprietor, "Who's it for?"

"For my father," said the boy.

"Nonsense. Your father is a total abstainer, and has been to my knowledge, for longer years than you have lived."

"Well, at all events, he sent me for it."

"What does he want it for?"

"To let you into a secret," said the boy ashamed to tell the truth, "he's going fishing, and he wants the cork to use for a float!"—London Tid-Bits.

OHIO TOWN FACES

TYPHOID EPIDEMIC.

Salem, O.—State aid was asked of Governor James M. Cox today in the fight against typhoid here.

More than 1000 victims, approximately one-seventh of the population of Salem, were reported in hospitals and homes. One death occurred Saturday.

Cases are increasing at the rate of 50 a day, and doctors, nurses and medical supplies are needed at once, the governor was told.

Doctors and nurses from surrounding cities are assisting local authorities.

TRANSPORTATION TO BE BIG QUESTION IN NEW BALL LEAGUE

Bluegrass Baseball Magnates To Meet In Lexington This Week To Consider New "Old Kentucky League."

The Lexington Herald says:

The old Kentucky baseball league, recently formed with Lexington, Winchester, Mayfield, Ashland, Paducah, Owensboro, Henderson and Hopkinsville, will not be represented at the annual meeting of the National Association of Minor Baseball Leagues which will convene in Kansas City today. Hogan Yancey, president of the league, said Sunday that no official of the local organization will attend the meeting.

The announcement that Kentucky was to have minor league baseball again was received with considerable interest and joy by local sportsmen and developments in the formation of plans for the operation of the circuit, which expects to begin its season about May 1 and continue until the last of September.

Representatives of the eight towns holding franchises in the league will meet here soon to formulate further plans for the season and prepare a schedule. The schedule is expected to take some time to prepare as conditions in each city must be studied and traveling distances cut to a minimum.

Transportation costs will be the biggest item in the expense accounts of the various clubs. The longest jump would be from Paducah to Ashland, the shortest, Lexington to Winchester. The schedule committee will attempt to make all of the jumps as short as possible. Lexington, Winchester, Ashland and Mayfield will be on the eastern circuit and Paducah, Owensboro, Henderson and Hopkinsville on the western. In going from east to west, Lexington, Owensboro, would be the shortest jump. How to keep the teams from having to travel from Paducah to Ashland or equal distances will be one of the many problems the schedule committee will have to combat.

Pepto-Mangan Makes Rich Red Blood and Lifts You Out of Bad Health Ruts.

There are days when you feel downright sick. You think you couldn't feel any worse. Yet, as far as you know, there's nothing the matter with you. From the time you get up in the morning till you go to bed at night you are tired. You feel as though you'd like to sit down and do nothing. You look tired and pale and haggard. You feel careless about your dress.

No wonder! Your blood is all clogged up with poison. Your power of resistance is at a low ebb. Your blood needs food. It needs the help that the vitalizing tonic, Pepto-Mangan, will give it. Instead of feeling exhausted and tired out for months, you will soon pick right up and feel well and strong again. And with good red blood you are able to fight off ailments.

Pepto-Mangan is widely and heartily endorsed by physicians. It is effective and easy to take. It is prepared in both liquid and tablet form, and you can take one or the other and receive the same benefits.

CLINTON, IOWA, WANTS POWER BOAT REGATTA

Iowa Town Makes Bid For Big Annual Power Boat Show for 1921.

Clinton, Iowa, has made application to the officials of the Mississippi Valley Power Boat Association for the 1921 regatta of that organization, regarded as the motor boating classic of the Western river district, according to announcement made public today.

No decision has been reached for the reason that Peoria, Illinois, and numerous other cities are also after the honors, and there will probably be hot competition before the decision is made by the Executive Committee of the association.

Most of the leaders of the Association will attend the National Motor Boat Show at New York December 10-18 and it is likely that a meeting will be held at that time at which the matter will be decided.

COAL FIELDS UPROAR CAUSED BY SHOOTING AND OUTRAGES.

Williamson, W. Va., Nov. 8.—Three shooting affrays, including two attacks upon mining properties and an attempt to dynamite a mine tunnel, have kept state troopers busy in the Mingo coal strike zone within a period of eighteen hours according to reports made by authorities here today. Two of the attacks, carried out by parties of unidentified men, occurred late today.

WINNES IS AGAIN ARRESTED AND PUT ON TRIAL MONDAY

Examining Trial Into the Murder of Miss Lura Parsons Was Begun Monday at Harlan—Veterinarian and Negro Tried Jointly.

Harlan, Ky., Nov. 8.—Following his rearrest on the second warrant after his release Saturday, on a writ of habeas corpus, Dr. H. C. Winnes, State veterinarian, was placed on examining trial here this afternoon, as was James Robinson, negro convict. Both are held on warrants charging murder of Miss Lura Parsons, Pine Mountain school teacher, outraged and killed as she was walking over the mountain, September 7.

The second warrant against Dr. Winnes was sworn to by Senator Hiram A. Brock shortly before the examining trial of Robinson was to have begun this afternoon. An attorney for Dr. Winnes who obtained his release Saturday on the ground that the County Court did not have jurisdiction inasmuch as the grand jury had dismissed the warrant against Dr. Winnes and announced that it would not attempt to obtain a second writ, vigorously protested. However, the motion of the prosecution that the examining trial include both Dr. Winnes and the negro convict carried after a heated argument on this point during which the attorney for Dr. Winnes raised the question of personal liberty and stressed the fact that the doctor had been rearrested only five minutes before it was proposed to open his examining trial.

County Judge W. F. Bailey ruled that he would give Dr. Winnes all the time he desired to obtain witnesses, but then the trial should proceed jointly.

The prosecution pointed out that the examining trial really was in the nature of a court of inquiries and contended that it was for the interest of the doctor that all facts should be brought out at one time, thus allowing the guilt to be placed in the proper place and expediting proceedings. Attorneys for Dr. Winnes contended that while they deplored the crime they were not concerned in any investigation except that which affect their client and insisted that it was not proper to mix his trial with that of the negro. They also declared it was not treating Dr. Winnes justly, since he agreed to remain over as a witness in the negro trial, to rearrest him and put him on trial within five minutes. They urged a separate trial and asked to be given until Wednesday to prepare their case.

CROP RECORDS ARE ALL BROKEN IN UNITED STATES

Leading Staples in the U. S. Show Great Increase—Kentucky Tobacco Is Decreased.

Washington, Nov. 8.—American farmers broke production records of five crops this year. Preliminary estimates announced today by the department of Agriculture show the corn, tobacco, rice, sweet potatoes and pear crops surpassed in size those of any previous year in the country's history.

In addition very large crops were grown, in some instances closely approaching records of oats barley, rye, potatoes, apples and hay. The buckwheat production record, however, has stood since 1866, with this year's crop of more than 8,000,000 bushels under it. Final crop production figures will be announced next month.

Corn, king of all crops, and of which the United States grows more than 70 per cent. of the world's output, reached the enormous total of 3,199,126,000 bushels. That is 75,000,000 bushels more than ever before grown in any year. This is the third corn crop to exceed 3,000,000,000 bushels, the previous record having been made in 1912, while the crop of 1917 was the second largest.

In point of value this year's corn crop will not equal that of last year. Based on the December 1 price, which was $1.33 a bushel, it was worth $3,934,234,000. The crop of 1912 was valued at $1,520,454,000 on the December 1 price of 48.7 cents a bushel, and the 1917 crop at $3,920,288,000, with the December price almost $1.30 a bushel.

The value of this year's crop, based on the November 1 farm price, which was 87.3 cents a bushel, is estimated at $2,792,837,000.

The tobacco crop this year, placed at 1,476,440,000 pounds by the preliminary estimate, is 87,000,000 pounds more than grown last year, when all previous records were broken. Virginia, North Carolina and South Carolina exceeded their last years production, while Kentucky's crop this year is 36,000,000 pounds less than a year ago.

Miss Lucy Lee, Mrs. Frank Clarke, Mrs. John M. Hunt, Misses Fanny and Grace Brierbower and Mr. and Mrs. John W. Winter attended a banquet given by the Kentucky Historical Society at Frankfort Monday.

The Grand Lodge of Oddfellows of Kentucky meets in Lexington next Monday Tuesday and Wednesday. Both local Oddfellow lodges will be represented.

COUNTY AGENT ISSUES STATEMENT ON HOG CHOLERA

County Agent Urges That Hogs Be Carefully Watched and Examination Made Upon Illness.

County Agent George Kirk this morning issued the following statement:

For the first time in years hog cholera has broken out in Mason county, and I cannot urge too strongly that those farmers who have hogs vaccinated at once. Following the loss of two hogs Mr. R. E. Newell called Dr. R. P. Moody to perform a post mortem examination Sunday afternoon. Dr. Moody pronounced the case hog cholera, and Mr. Newell asked me to get assistance from the Experiment Station. I immediately called Dr. W. W. Dimock, head of the Veterinary Department of the Experiment Station. He promised to send Dr. W. H. Simmons, Extension Veterinarian, at once, and Monday another post mortem was performed, and Dr. Simmons corroborated Dr. Moody in his diagnosis. The remainder of Mr. Newell's herd were given the simultaneous treatment Monday afternoon.

This is a splendid example of the quick action which is possible by co-operating with the Experiment Station. Withing eighteen hours after the disease was discovered the serum and virus had been administered to every animal in Mr. Newell's herd, and his losses should be checked and held to a minimum.

Hog cholera can be carried by buzzards, crows, dogs, or in any mechanical manner from one farm to another. It is especially essential that those men who have farms near that of Mr. Newell vaccinate their hogs at once, both for their own sakes and in order that the outbreak may be confined to one farm. Anyone who may have hogs that are sick should call a veterinarian at once. Failure to take all due precautions may result in a rigid quarantine.

I shall be glad to assist in any way possible in checking this outbreak, but the operation must be performed by a licensed veterinarian who has a permit.

GEORGE KIRK,
County Agent.
